

George Paolini

Vice President & General Manager, Java Solutions, Borland

George Paolini is vice president and general manager of Java solutions for Borland Software Corporation. He is responsible for the research and development, product management, product marketing and business development efforts of Borland Java products, including the Borland® JBuilder® development environment and Borland® Optimizeit™ performance assurance solution.

Prior to joining Borland, Paolini served as chief marketing officer of Zaplet, a Kleiner-Perkins start-up. Paolini has also held a variety of positions at Sun Microsystems, where during his 8-year tenure he was responsible for widely known launch initiatives such as Java 2 Platform, Enterprise Edition™ (J2EE™), JavaOne,® Sun®ONE, and the Java Community Process. In addition, Paolini started the JavaOne Conference, the world's largest and most successful software developer conference.

Paolini received a Bachelor's degree in management from St. Mary's College in Moraga, Calif.